Train - there's a NJ Transit train (#7821) running from NYC (7:14am) Newark (7:32am) Metropark (7:57) arriving at New Brunswick at 8:11 am. This is the train to take from all points north of Trenton to arrive for our 8:30 am start at front of the Trenton Transit Center.

Starting/Ending at Other Points – There are two rail stations between, Edison and Metuchen. However, Edison is over a mile from the trail. Metuchen is close to the end of the walk. For a short walk, parking in Fords on Amboy Ave would still provide a 4-5 mile walk to the end. Some shuttle support will be provided but best to be prepared on your own for returning to your car.

Start – New Brunswick Parking - there is plenty of in public garages across from station. The most convenient is right across the street at the Ferren Daily Deck. Approach from Church St one block behind - $12 per day, 24hrs, machine pay. There may be free or metered street parking close to station too.

End – Metropark Parking - maybe the best strategy for people north of New Brunswick is to park in the two large garages at the station. Plenty of parking. $5 per day. Take the #7821 train as note above.

Walk - we'll be heading out of the New Brunswick train station east for a 1.2 miles on Raritan Ave. across the Raritan where turn on Rt 514 / Woodbridge Ave. See the Interactive Map <http://bit.ly/tweenwalk> for details. The ECG trail markers pick up after crossing the Raritan from New Brunswick. We'll have printed maps to follow on Saturday morning. See the "Sites to See" section on <http://betweenwalk.org> for stop details.

Support Stops/Breaks/Lunch – We are planning a few stops around specific interesting sites supported ECG staffers and others will help guide us. Mike Krumier of the ECG will be shadowing us in his van and provide guidance and extraordinary support if needed. Bring your own drink and energy snack food but don't overdo it. There are commercial businesses especially at the first couple miles and at the last 5 miles.

Weather – Weather – a steady hard rain will cancel the walk. Check either the event at freewalkers.org or the <http://betweenwalk.org> website for any cancellation or other plan.
